

Making metal 3D printing affordable

Designer/Product developer

The product developer is responsible for the design, integration and user experience of the 3D printer. He will be the key contact between user and the engineering team.

Job description

- Shaping & functional design of the machine
- Mechanical design in cooperation with the automation engineer with focus on maintenance, user interaction & future expandability
- User interface design

Your Profile

- Start-up minded
- You are interested and believe in the project
- You are fluent in English, Dutch is an important plus
- You like to keep your projects well-structured and you have attention for details.
- You are open-minded to innovation
- You are willing to keep learning
- You are flexible
- Drawing (software) skill
- CAD software knowledge

Offer

- Be part of a potential tech start-up in a fast growing market
- Young and dynamic team
- Lots of variation and room for personal skill development

“Good design is all about making other designers feel like idiots because that idea wasn’t theirs.” - Frank Chimero

Please send a cover letter and resume to info@valcun.be

To be considered to join our growing team.